Stalin Orders Russia To Aid Madrid Belts; Rebel Bombs Kill 60

Insurgents Ford River To Piece Edges of Spanish Capital

Barcelona, Nov. 14.—Russia will do everything in its power to aid the Madrid government because Stalin fears a Fascist Spain would import world peace, declared Vladimir Antonov-Ovseenko, Soviet communist general, here tonight.

He asserted Stalin has ordered all assistance possible because a victory by insurgent leader Franco would "be a menace to England and France."

With French troops (London Mail, Nov. 14) French troops and Soviet planes have been sent to aid the Madrid government.

The insurgents are fighting the battle of Madrid after forcing the Madrid government to flee.

WHITELY OVERCOATS

We don't think there is a suit in New England better known or better liked than our own "Whitely" that we sell with two pairs of trousers for $25. When we decided to tailor an overcoat that would be just as popular, we used the same prescription: we appropriated part of the profits to better fabric and better tailoring than are normally used in making $25 clothes. And the result is apparent at first glance. These Whitely Overcoats, like our Whitely Suits, are made for men who could well afford to pay more. They're not tailored to fit a price, but priced to fit an idea. You'll find hundreds and hundreds of them here Monday in a complete range of fabrics, models and sizes.

Thousands More Workers To Get Benefits

By ALAN C. FRAZER

The business pulse of New England was quickening, as yesterday brought to a close a week of wage bounties.

More than 65,000 New England industrial workers have been granted wage increases, and thousands more will receive similar gains before the end of November.

The official aggregate wage sheet is estimated at present at more than $100,000,000.

When the annual review of wages in the textile mills and other lines of industry is completed, the total is expected to reach $100,000,000, or more, according to estimates.

Some private estimates and business officials place the total even higher.

THE house at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C., is the "No. 1 address" of the nation. It is the White House. When the President is "at home" it is the scene of the high and the low; the politician, the statesman, the artist, and in fact talks of all states who have business with the nation's chief executive, or who try to impress that they have. Here Pres. Roosevelt is at his desk conferring on the day's calendar with Secretaries Margaret Lelland and Matina Menzies.

PRES. ROOSEVELT discusses, at his desk, appointments with Secretary Stephen Early. Mr. Early is the President's contact man with the press. Newspapermen are received several times each week. The President chats with them, handles reports and exchanges pleasantries "off the record." International News Photos.

New Governor to See Hopkins

HURLEY URGES
U. S. AIDFavors Direct Relief
To Cities and Towns

By WILLIAM C. CONWAY

Nantucket, Nov. 14.—An immediate conference with Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, and other New Deal officials will be sought this week by Governor-elect Charles F. Hurley, he announced today as he made plans to return to Boston after a week of relaxation on this island.

Immediately upon his return to Boston tomorrow, Governor-elect Hurley will confer with his party associates in an effort to set a date on which he may confer with the federal relief administrator.

"I want to find out just what type of relief program the federal government is planning for Massachusetts," Governor-elect Hurley said. "I will have several suggestions to make concerning the method of distributing relief in our state."

"I am wholeheartedly in favor of having the federal government return to the relief which was used under the Civil Works Administration. That plan, in my mind, was the most successful method of distributing relief in the past, and I will suggest to Mr. Hopkins that the plan be revived if possible."

U. S. Helped Cities

"The Civil Works Administration has given direct grants to cities and towns for worthwhile projects and placed the responsibility for the handling of the relief problem on local officials. They were much more familiar with conditions in their own communities than any outside."

Governor-elect Hurley said that the federal government should have knowledge of conditions in cities and towns in every section of the state. He was supported by President Roosevelt as a member of the first Civil Works Administration. He said that he had been in the state for two years and had seen the results of the federal relief program. He said that he had seen the results of the federal relief program. He said that he had seen the results of the federal relief program.

Harmony Expected

That complete harmony will reign in Massachusetts during the coming two years between Governor-elect Hurley and Lieutenant Governor-elect Francis E. Kelly has been enthusiastically demonstrated here today. The two men, who were elected to office on the same ticket, were seen together in the city hall today. They were seen together in the city hall today. They were seen together in the city hall today.

During his two years of service as Governor, Kelly has been a member of the first Civil Works Administration. He said that he had been in the state for two years and had seen the results of the federal relief program. He said that he had seen the results of the federal relief program. He said that he had seen the results of the federal relief program.

The young Lieutenant Governor-elect and the older Governor-elect were seen together in the city hall today. They were seen together in the city hall today. They were seen together in the city hall today.

ON THE CAPE

Defers Into Seclusion in an Effort to Shake Off Cold He Got During the Campaign

In an attempt to get a complete rest in order to shake a heavy cold which has persisted since the last day of the campaign, Gov. Joseph P. Curley left the city today for a few days.

"I intend to go where he would like to go," he said. "The cold is still hanging on. I think a few days' rest, with maybe a little golf, will be my lot."

He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Joseph Curley, a member of his staff, and Mrs. John F. Curley. The party left in the 9:15 train for Cape Cod.

"Although I am feeling much better," he said, "the cold is still hanging on. I think a few days' rest, with maybe a little golf, will be my lot."

MR. AND MRS. JOHN F. FOOT, Jr., of Dorchester, who were married yesterday at St. Columba's Church, Brighton. Mrs. Foot is the former Florence M. Sullivan, daughter of Sergeant Maurice Sullivan of District Attorney William F. Ryan's office. They will honeymoon in California.

Defers Into Seclusion in an Effort to Shake Off Cold He Got During the Campaign

In an attempt to get a complete rest in order to shake a heavy cold which has persisted since the last day of the campaign, Gov. Joseph P. Curley left the city today for a few days.

"I intend to go where he would like to go," he said. "The cold is still hanging on. I think a few days' rest, with maybe a little golf, will be my lot."

He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Joseph Curley, a member of his staff, and Mrs. John F. Curley. The party left in the 9:15 train for Cape Cod.

"Although I am feeling much better," he said, "the cold is still hanging on. I think a few days' rest, with maybe a little golf, will be my lot."

NEW VIOLENCE

Meat Dealers Fear Strike Action

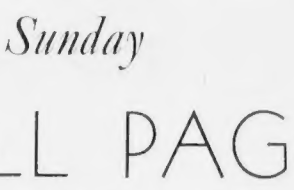

Meat violence was feared in the city today, following the news that the four companies that supply the city with meat had agreed to a strike.

Following a conference of the four companies, the city government announced that it had accepted the union demand for a 40-hour week and increased wages.

A second firm was requested to negotiate with the strikers, but the remaining two indicated yesterday they would not attempt to join the strike.

Early yesterday, Anne Partridge, secretary of the Boston Meat Dealers' Association, said that the four companies had agreed to a strike.

The governor refused to discuss possible appointments for judges to be appointed to fill before his term expires.
